Captain and Mate Held for the Grand Jucy Upon Complaints Filed by Their Crew.

Baltimore, Jan. 18,-Another case of prutality to oyster dredgers was alred before United States Commissioner Rogers today, and if the stories told by the crew are true, the mate and captain of the Bessle M. Lewis will have to inswer to a charge of murder.

The facts were brought out at a earing of Capt. Levin Lewis and Mate Richard W. Clayton, who were arrested at the instance of the crew. The tale of torture told by the men is almost youd belief. They shipped from Balbeyond belief. They shipped from Bal-timore December 18, and proceeded to Hooper's Straits. Martin Odonnell, one of the crew, stated that one day while he and Mike Duffy, an old man, were handling the bow line, they asked for help. This ennaged the mate, who struck Duffy two terrific blows in the face. Patrick Smith, another dredger, said it was a shame to treat an sld man like that. The mate then flew at man like that. The mate then flew at smith and felled him to the deck. He kicked and stamped upon the man until he was unconscious. Pat Hatey tried to interfere and was knocked down and cut with a inatchet by the captain. Smith staggered to his feet and would have falled overboard but for nelp. Smith was pounded again the next day and once in the forepeak the male and once in the forepeak the mate beat him. He went to his bunk on January 1, and was found dead there. He was buried at Hooper's Straits.

The captain and mate deny the stories of cracity and say that the crew was problem. The control of the con inclined to be disorderly and that they
